DETAILED ACTION

1. This is in response to the Applicant's election filed April 30, 2007. Claims 1-9 have been examined.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 1-7 are objected to because of the following informalities: claim 1 is missing a period (.) at the end. Appropriate correction is required. Claims 2-7 are objected to because they are dependent upon an objected to base claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Stroh, U.S. Pat. No. 7,155,409.

As to claim 1, Stroh discloses a method of operating a computerized forfeiting exchange comprising:

Art Unit: 3691

providing a web site accessible via the internet to sellers and buyers using computers (col. 45, lines 21-26);

providing a counter party selection document on request to a seller or buyer to view at the web site, where the document contains a list of classes of counter parties together with counter party selection entry facilities (Figs. 12 and 16 and col. 48, lines 25-38); permitting a seller to identify classes of buyers with whom they will, or will not, develop a forfaiting transaction, by entering selections on the counter party selection document using the counter party selection entry facilities (col. 9, line 59-col. 10, line 17; Figs. 12-16); providing an offer document on request to a seller to view at the web site, where the offer document contains the following items: a list of classes of asset together with asset selection entry facilities and asset information entry facilities for entry of details of the asset (Figs. 12-16; col. 9, line 59-col. 10, line 17; col. 45, lines 21-26), a list of terms for the offer together with offer selection entry facilities and information entry facilities for entry of details of the offer (Figs. 7-11C), a list of offer documents to accompany the elect together with offer document selection entry facilities and offer document attachment facilities for attaching copies of offer documents (Figs. 12-15), a list of undertakings for the seller to make together with undertaking selection entry facilities and undertaking document attachment facilities for attaching copies of undertaking documents (Figs. 12-15 and 17; col. 45, lines 21-26);

permitting the seller to create an instance of the offer document (Fig. 5), by:

Art Unit: 3691

identifying the asset to be offered by using the asset selection entry facilities and asset information entry facilities (Figs. 7, 8, and 12), identifying the terms for the offer by using the offer selection entry facilities and offer information entry facilities (Figs. 7, 8, and 12) identifying the offer documents to accompany the offer by using the offer document selection entry, facilities and offer document attachment facilities (Figs. 7, 8, and 12), identifying the undertakings to be made by using the undertaking selection entry facilities and undertaking document attachment facilities (Figs. 7, 8, 12, and 17); permitting the seller to submit an instance of the offer document, so that it becomes available to view by potential buyer from only the classes of buyers identified as being those whom the seller will develop the transaction (Figs. 12-15);

providing a counter offer document on request to a buyer after they have viewed an offer document, where the counter offer document contains counter offer selection and counter offer information entry facilities for entry of variations to an offer document instance (Figs. 12-15); permitting the buyer to create an instance of the counter offer document by entering selections and information using the counter offer selection and information entry facilities, and to submit the counter offer instance, so that it becomes available to the seller (Figs. 12-15); providing a counter offer document on request to any party after they have viewed an instance of a counter offer document, where the counter offer document contains counter offer selection and information entry facilities for entry of variations (Figs. 12-15); permitting the party to create an instance of the counter offer document by entering selections and information using the counter offer selection and information entry facilities, and to submit the counter offer instance, so that it becomes available to the counter party (Figs. 12-15).

As to claim 2, Stroh discloses the method according to claim 1, comprising the further step of repeating the last two steps (Figs. 12-15).

As to claim 3, Stroh discloses the method according to claim 1, where the document available at the web site contain electronic links to independent sources of financial information (Fig. 17).

As to claim 4, Stroh discloses the method according to claim 1, where the document available at the web site contains electronic links to standardized forms of documents, such as asset definition documents used to support instances of the offer document (Figs. 12, 16, and 17).

As to claim 5, Stroh discloses the method according to claim 1, where the document available at the website contains electronic links to standardized forms of undertaking documents (Fig. 17).

As to claim 6, Stroh discloses the method according to claim 1, comprising the further step of the exchange providing the on-line assistance in completing the process (Figs. 12-16).

As to claim 7, Stroh discloses the method according to claim 1, comprising the further step of the exchange providing an asset screening document for use by potential buyers to select the types of asset they wish to view, and not view (Figs. 12-16).

As to claim 8, Stroh discloses a computerized forfailing exchange comprising:
a web site accessible via the Internet to sellers and buyers using computers (col. 45, lines 21-26);
a database associated with the web site and storing (col. 29, line 1 – col. 33, line 10; Figs. 12-16); a counter party selection document, where the document contains a list of classes of counter parties together with counter party selection entry facilities;
an offer document, where the offer document contains the following items (col. 29, line 1 – col. 33, line 10; Figs. 12-16):
a list of classes of asset together with asset entry facilities and asset information entry facilities for entry of details of the asset (col. 29, line 1 – col. 33, line 10; Figs. 12-16), a list of terms for the offer together with offer selection entry facilities and offer information entry facilities for entry of details of the offer, a list of offer documents to accompany the offer together with offer document selection entry facilities and other document attachment facilities for attaching copies of offer document (col. 29, line 1 – col. 33, line 10; Figs. 12-16), a list of undertakings for the seller to make together with undertaking selection entry facilities and undertaking document attachment facilities for attaching copies of undertaking documents (col. 29, line 1 – col. 33, line 10; Figs. 12-16);

a counter offer document containing counter offer selection and information entry facilities (col. 29, line 1 – col. 33, line 10; Figs. 12-16);

a processor associated with the web site and the database and operable on request to retrieve a document from the database to view at the web site (col. 29, line 1 – col. 33, line 10; Figs. 12-16);

the processor being further operable on request either to permit the entry of selections and information to create instances of documents on-line (col. 29, line 1 – col. 33, line 10; Figs. 12-16);

the processor being further operable to permit viewing of instances of offer documents by potential buyers, depending upon the selections and entries made by the seller in counter party selection document (col. 29, line 1 – col. 33, line 10; Figs. 12-16).

As to claim 9, Stroh discloses a computerized forfeiting exchange according to claim 8 comprising a printing facility operable on request to print an offer document for use off-line (Figs. 12 and 16).
